Christ's Love compels us

With Christ's return closer than ever before, His love compels us to reach as many as we can for Him.

Our vision

The World Missions Committee is pursuing mission endeavors that are self-supporting and self-propagating. By the Word and Spirit, through our missionaries, we equip indigenous leaders to nurture local congregations so that by the grace of God they may direct their own affairs, seek salvation for the lost, and mutually assist one another to the glory of God.

Prayer

God's Word reminds us that we are not fighting a physical battle but a spiritual battle. It instructs us to put on the full armor of God and to "pray in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayer and requests." Ephesians 6:18

God's wisdom and strength are the most important aspects of missions. Without His help our efforts are useless; with His help we cannot fail.

E.M. Bounds, in his timeless essay on prayer, wrote, "It is all right to urge men to give of their means to the missionary cause. But it is much more important to urge them to give their prayers to the movement. Foreign missions need, today, more the power of prayer than the power of money. Prayer can make even poverty in the missionary cause move on amidst difficulties and hindrances. Much money without prayer is helpless and powerless in the face of the utter darkness and sin and wretchedness on the foreign field ..."

Our greatest need is a revival of prayer for AFLC World Missions.

The unreached

AFLC World Missions regularly receives requests to come and partner with mission works that are already established. Rarely do we hear from countries that have little Christian influence, as such areas can be antagonistic to the Gospel rather than inviting. It is easier to work alongside of other Christians than to go into an unreached people group.

The World Missions Committee has made it a goal to reach the unreached. Our vision includes:

- › Praying that God would give wisdom and show us His will
- › Identifying a people group to reach
- › Developing a plan to reach this group by the end of 2008
- › Praying that God would call and we would send workers to this group

Please be in prayer for this vision.
